EHRI for Collection Holding Institutions: New Webpage Explains How to Integrate Your Data in the EHRI Portal

01/02/2018

EHRI just launched a new webpage "EHRI for Collection Holding Institutions" on its project website to facilitate and group all the new methodologies and tools that EHRI has developed in order to integrate descriptions of Holocaust-related sources into the EHRI portal. If you work for an institution that holds Holocaust-related archival materials, in Europe or beyond, you can now become part of the EHRI Portal.

Your Opinion Matters: Please Fill Out Our Survey on the Impact of Digital Approaches on Research and Archiving

01/02/2018

The European Holocaust Research Infrastructure invites you to participate in a web survey aimed at institutions that hold Holocaust-related archival collections. The survey aims to investigate the impact that digital approaches have on research and archiving. In particular, we want to understand the effects that EHRI has on collection holding institutions and archival work practices.

New EHRI Document Blog: Engaging the Crowd with Holocaust Oral Testimonies

01/02/2018

The latest contribution to the EHRI Document Blog was written by Rebecca Dillmeier from USHMM. The post reports on an ongoing crowdsourcing project that addresses the search and discoverability challenges of large oral history collections. The post gives an insight into the experiences and challenges of using crowdsourcing for oral history transcripts to increase access to this rich resource.
